

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The invention is directed to a bullet protective shield for mounting to the interior of a motor vehicle, said shield including a bullet protective viewing window to provide a driveable view therethrough. Said shield be rotatable between a stored
5 position adjacent the interior roof of the vehicle and a deployed position extending vertically downward between the vehicle passengers and the vehicle windshield.

7977.1